

4

5

6

Sat 10:00-15:00
(During temporary exhibitions, open Thurs 10:00-20:00)

At the AD Gallery 4
Until November 8

Savvas Christodoulides
Savvas Christodoulides is a surrealist sculptor whose work is full of contrasts. Charming, delicate yet macabre and grotesque, his nostalgia for vanitas is made contemporary with the minimalism of his chosen medium, porcelain. A collager of sorts, Christodoulides's work is nothing short of tantalizing.

Pallados 3, Psyrri,
tel 210 322 8785
or www.adgallery.gr
Open Tues-Fri 12:00-21:00
Sat 12:00-16:00

At the Qbox Gallery
Until November 25
Ephemeral Graffiti,
Takehito Koganezawa

Berlin-based artist Koganezawa is known for his minimalism and playfulness and explains that his works are like "passing moments carrying no expectations". Random in nature, it will be interesting to see what a month's residency on Kea island has stirred up inside the artist who loves chaos.

Armodiou 10, Varvakios Square, Monastiraki,
tel 211 119 9991
or www.qbox.gr
Open Tues-Fri 14:00-20:00
Sat 12:00-16:00

At the National Museum of Contemporary Art
Until November 30

Ulrich Ruckriem: Shadows of the Stone, Drawings
The German sculptor's exhibition of some ninety drawings presented for their first time in Athens marks the commencement of the Museum's temporary residency at the Unfinished Athens Conservatory. Ruckriem has also drawn directly onto walls and floors of the exhibition space; a contrast to his usual stone sculptures.

David Claerbout 5
Until December 7

Belgian video artist and photographer Claerbout enjoys playing the two mediums of photography and video off each other. One never quite knows what to expect, but one can always trust that Claerbout will guide the way. Vasilis Georgiou & Rigilis, Kolonaki, For more information tel 210 924 2111 or see www.emst.gr

7

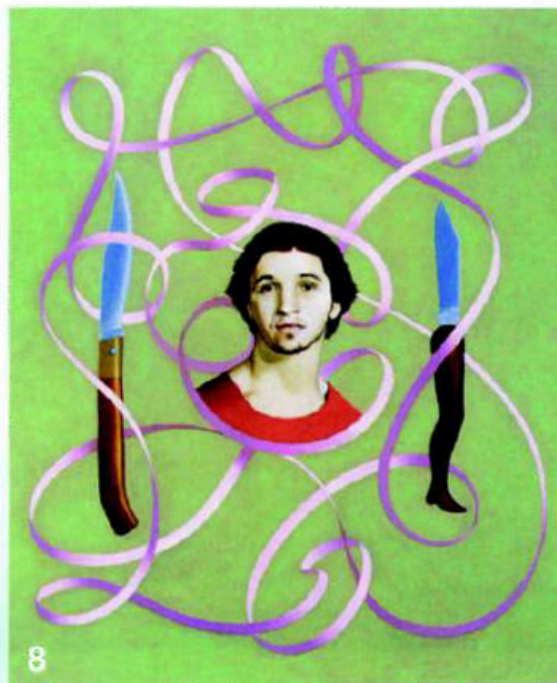

At the Thanassis Frissiras Gallery 6
Until November 8

Lambrini Boviatsou

A graduate from the University of Fine Arts in Rome, Boviatsou is a painter, through and through. Her works can be seen at the Pinacoteca Graottamare in Italy, the University of Athens Museum, the Municipal Pinacoteca of Corfu, the Frissiras Museum and the Pinacoteca of Culture at Keratocampou-Kapsalon.

Until January 3
Frederique Loutz 7

Loutz's universe is fed by the popular imagination

8

At the Breeder Gallery 8
Until October 25

Daniel Sinsel

Daniel Sinsel is a Royal College of Art graduate and Beck's Futures award nominee in 2006. His first solo show in Greece marks the inaugural exhibition of the Breeder Gallery's new space. A painter with a particular interest in turning perishable objects into durable works, look forward to mixed media of the most unusual kind. Iasonas 45, Metaxourgeio, tel 210 331 7527 or see www.thebreeder.system.com Open Weds-Fri 12:00-20:00 Tues, Sat 12:00-18:00

9

At the Cats and Marbles Gallery 9

October 7 - November 1
Divinity's Playground,
Yorgos Pikionis

In his paintings, Pikionis addresses religions and deities, only to find that there is only one truth. With inspiration from texts and myths of Ancient Greece, Christianity, Buddhism, Hinduism and Greek tradition, his works can be best described as oil painted patchworks. Fokylidou 12, Kolonaki, tel 210 3613942 or see www.catsandmarbles.com Open Tues, Thurs, Fri 11.00-20.00 Weds, Sat 11.00-16.00